24 March 2009

Delight your mother's taste buds and unwind in The Westin Melbourne's award winning restaurant, Allegro. Settle in for a long afternoon with sparkling wine on arrival followed by a decadent lunch.

You can unwind from 12noon to 3pm over some tapas, platter dining & decadent cheese & dessert buffets. Listen & chill out with renowned jazz performers Margot Leighton & Tim Nikolsky who'll play smooth 'Swingin' tunes and sophisticated grooves.

Whether you and your guests dine alfresco on the tree top terraces overlooking the city or in the restaurant amongst the open plan kitchen, from just $75 per person Allegro's Lazy Sunday Lunch will transform your Mothers Day.

Executive Chef David Albert's Lazy Sunday Lunch menus include a shared entrée platter - where three appetizers are matched with wonderful wines from Chandon. Dishes such as prosciutto, fig and watermelon salad, confit garlic soup with smoked chicken and fennel or pan seared scallops are just a taste of what you can expect.

Continue to linger over platter style dining with a selection of three main courses to share. Indulge in chef's specialities such as blue cheese crusted veal medallion with champ potatoes, baby snapper with olive tapenade or twice cooked quail with shredded coconut salad to name but a few.

Move on to sweet treats by sampling from the decadent dessert buffet - everything from white chocolate and raspberry torte to rosewater panacotta and chocolate dipped strawberries as well as a selection of local and imported cheeses will be on offer.
