1 May 2008:

A new Westin website - westin.com.au - allows you to choose your mood as you navigate your way through award winning accommodation, meetings, dining, spa and destination information in the Pacific region.

The Westin's in Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland and Fiji have just unveiled a new user-friendly site with a unique "mood menu" so users can personalise the look of the site to feel more energised, empowered and inspired as they review hotel details.

To further enhance the positive mood, everything from a host of property images, spa services, the latest package information, local attractions in each Westin destination, useful maps and directions from airports along with special offers, on line reservations, seasonal restaurant menus, detailed floor plans and capacities for meetings and events plus the ability to download brochures is included on the new site. You can even order one of Westin's famous heavenly beds via the site!

"The new site was designed to offer guests and clients all the information they could possibly want from our Westin destinations in this region - as well as fee/Westin's new focus on the senses while on line," comments Anne Jamieson, Director of Sales & Marketing at The Westin Melbourne.

From the award winning Westin Melbourne with its acclaimed contemporary art collection, the iconic Westin Sydney located within the refurbished GPO building, the relaxing Westin Denarau Island Resort & Spa with Fiji's largest and most indulgent day spa plus championship 18 hole golf course to the newly opened Westin Auckland, overlooking Viaduct Harbour - the new westin.com.au will take you there.
